- Fixed an issue where Dynamic Picklists could stop returning results on live forms after a user was deactivated and their forms were transferred to another user.
- Fixed an issue where workflows with several forms published using the JavaScript embed could show the theme header and footer inside the embed, or send respondents away from the embedding page, once they reached the third or fourth form.
- Fixed an issue where a permission removed from a user (for example, when licensing automatically removes Content Management after an add-on is turned off) still counted against the account's seat limit, preventing admins from assigning it to another user.
- Fixed an issue where read-only Salesforce objects could not be selected in the Salesforce Workflow Connector.

SECURITY UPDATES

- Fixed an issue affecting the service that provides suggestions for dynamic form fields and picklists.
- Updated several third-party software components used by FormAssembly to address published security advisories.
